

A: I don't have enough rep to comment. But I'll post as an answer. Instead of `awk '/geoview/{a=1} a==1 {print}'` use `awk -F'|' '/geoview/{a=1} a==1 {print}'` This passes the output to stdout (terminal). NOTE: This awk script does not work on GNU/gawk. It will only work on GNU awk 4.1.0 or newer. If you have GNU awk 4.1.0 or newer, this is a much easier and robust solution: `awk '$0~/geoview/{a++}a'` Skeletal response to phosphate and calcium in hypophosphatasia. To study the skeletal manifestations of hypophosphatasia in an affected member of an inbred family. The clinical, biochemical, and radiographic findings in an affected member of a consanguineous family were compared to those in an unaffected member of the family. A skeletal survey demonstrated that the affected patient had platyspondyly, metaphyseal flaring, subchondral radiolucencies in all long bones, and enlargement of the diaphyseal epiphyseal plates. Radiographs showed cortical thickening and early osteophyte formation in the femoral head. Enzyme assay of the patient's fibroblast culture showed markedly low alkaline phosphatase activity. The unaffected relative, who was also heterozygous for the same mutation, had a normal skeletal survey and normal alkaline phosphatase activity in culture. The skeletal manifestations in this affected member of a consanguineous family showed features suggestive of hereditary hypophosphatasia. Decreased alkaline phosphatase activity in cultured fibroblasts is diagnostic for the disorder. Pennsylvania Senator Bob Casey (D) said on Tuesday that he would vote to override a presidential veto of legislation that would prevent Planned Parenthood from receiving government funding after the organization was caught offering fetal tissue for sale on a black market website. Casey made the remarks while discussing abortion rights at an event in Pittsburgh, according to The Washington Post.
