Category:Mathematics software[Structure of the larynx in the pig fetus with special reference to the microanatomy of the thyroid cartilage]. After drawing the general outline of the micro-anatomy of the larynx and thyroid cartilage, the study deals with the histological structure of the cartilage in the fetus of the pig. The cartilage is constituted by two parts: a superior and an inferior one. The thyroid cartilage is tubular and is subdivided into a superior and an inferior part; it is isolated by a distinct synovial membrane in the fetus. In the upper part of the superior thyroid cartilage the cartilage cells are much larger than in the inferior one. In the lower part of the superior thyroid cartilage we observed a fibrocartilage in the region of the cartilage cells.<sup>6</sup> C.F.R. 2.116(a) 2 We herewith make reference to the panel opinion filed in this case on October 13, 1973 3 Appellee's brief at 8 4 See Henderson v. Frank, 412 F.2d 114, 115 (9th Cir. 1969) (per curiam); Hernandez v. Beto, 468 F.2d 624 (5th Cir. 1972), cert. denied, 410 U.S. 916, 93 S.Ct. 976, 35 L.Ed.2d 279 (1973) (per curiam); Dombrowski v. Pfister, 380 U.S. 479, 85 S.Ct. 1116, 14 L.Ed.2d 22 (1965) 5 Under 28 U.S.C. 1446(a), as amended, a defendant may file a petition for removal within thirty days of receipt of the initial pleading or "any paper from which it may first be ascertained that the case is one which is or has become removable." 6 The amended remand statute was made effective on October 19, 1973, but as the amendment involves removal procedure, the amendment's operation is not retroactive. Cf. Hensgens v. Deere & Co., 491 F.2d 880 (5th Cir. 1973). As we have seen, the principal purpose of the amendment was to extend the thirty day time limit for removal of actions originally brought in state courts to those actions originally brought in federal courts.
