(E)-4-(2-bromo-4,6-difluorophenyl)-3-(5-sulfophenyl)acrylonitrile: an efficient and selective method for the introduction of 2'-OH. A new brominated phenylacrylonitrile derivative (5) was synthesized and used as the 4-substituent for oligoribonucleotide hybridization. As shown in this paper, this bromo-substituent (5) can be introduced efficiently and selectively in the 2'-position of oligonucleotides, as well as in the 3'-position by simple attachment of a pentyloxycarbonyl group. Oligo(rC-5)-ON, hybridized with the complementary DNA template, inhibited the growth of murine P388 lymphocytic leukemia cells. of it for about eight months.

Now when it's 93 degrees outside, it's more than welcome.
